DEMOCRATS REBELS GIVEN WARNING

President Believes Soviet Proposal Is Sincerely Intended

WASHINGTON, April 28.—(AP)—President Truman said today he believes the Russians are acting in good faith in their new move toward lifting of the Berlin blockade.

The president told a news conference that if he didn't think the Russian proposal was sincere, he would not have been so forthcoming in his statement.

These conversations have now reached the stage of final decision with Russia controlling the next move.

The Soviets were expected to re-

Prosecutor Tries To Shake Hester In His Testimony

CLEBURNE, April 28.—(AP)—Arthur Clayton Hester maintained today that his elderly guardian, Dr. John Lord, as the result of a broken promise.

At his murder trial, Hester said the 70-year-old graduate school dean of Texas Christian University promised to let him use his car if he would submit to an unnatural sex act.

But when Lord returned from Fort Worth to his lonely farm home near Burleson, Texas, at noon on March 8, he refused to let Hester have the automobile, the youth testified.

According to Hester's testimony, there was an argument outside the house. Then Lord walked into the living room and Hester followed him. Hester struck Lord with a metal rod, then followed him into the bedroom and struck him several more times.

This was Hester's version. The Houston May Get Negroes Seeking Graduate Studies

HOUSTON, April 28.—(AP)—The next step of 34 negroes who seek to enroll for graduate study in Texas may be made tomorrow.

If they apply at Texas State University for Negroes here they can take graduate work in several fields, Dr. R. O. Offner, Lanier, president of the university, said today.

The negroes applied yesterday at Austin for registration at the University of Texas but were advised they should apply at the University in Houston.

Lanier said he did not know if the students would apply here. Graduate courses now are offered at the Houston school in education, sociology, economics, music, English, mathematics and psychology.

Lanier said the university is prepared to teach graduate courses in the liberal arts field if students apply for them.

Whether full scale schools offering Master degrees can be set up in all fields depends on the legislative appropriation, he said.

So far the university's request for $10,000,000 for the next two years has been cut nearly in half by legislative committees, he explained.

No application was made yesterday at the University of Texas school of dentistry here or at the negro university.

Plans Made For Extensive City Cleanup Drive

Plans for the most extensive cleanup campaign ever undertaken in the city of Corsicana are being made by the local National Guard units, it was announced Thursday.

Further conferences with city officials are slated before dates for the drive will be set.

Capt. J. C. Gaston of the field artillery unit here disclosed that guard officers will offer use of army vehicles, and with cooperation of the city will cover the entire community to remove trash.

"We will want volunteer workers to help load and unload trucks," said Gaston. "We're going to ask the people to clean their yards and houses and place trash out in front."

Gaston said the campaign would require the cooperation of every citizen, the schools, PTA and health department. It is hoped that the cleanup will be staged May 13-14.

The drive will serve to eliminate both fire and health hazards, and it especially will be an anti-pollution effort. Some police cases already have been reported in East Central Texas.

Gaston said it was hoped that men could be sent to mow high grass and weeds on vacant city lots.

Further plans and details for the vast cleanup will be announced later.

ply soon to the questions raised by the Western powers on whether their only condition for ending the blockade is Western agreement to a meeting of the Council of Foreign Ministers.

The Western powers already have made known their willingness to join such a meeting, once Berlin conditions are restored to normal.

What they are trying to nail down now is the point that Russia does not insist on suspending the organization of non-Communist Western Germany pending the session.

The British-American-French not is reported to have asked the Soviet government to declare officially whether it stands firmly on the blockade lifting proposal released by the Tass news agency in a Moscow dispatch Tuesday.

This proposal represented Russia as being willing to abolish all restrictions on service transportation between Berlin and the Western zones of Germany. In exchange, the Russians were said to want a meeting of the Big Four Foreign Ministers Council to discuss all outstanding German issues involving the four powers.

American authorities appear to be generally convinced:

1. That the Berlin blockade is now hurting Russia more than it is hurting the West; that the men in the Kremlin must have realized that the success of the air lift in supplying Berlin has become a symbol of Western power all over Germany. The Russians therefore are believed to have decided to end the blockade.
2. In this trying to close out the losing deal the Russians are nevertheless anxious to salvage some advantage for themselves.
3. If possible, they would like to snarl up the Western German government project. At the same time they are expected to claim credit for a great new peace move as a result of the easing of tensions over Berlin.

West Texas Towns Are Hard Hit By Storms Of Hail

By The Associated Press.

Jolting hail storms struck several West Texas communities last night and early today.

Hardest hit were Kermit and Big Lake. In each case, the hail, rain and wind were the worst in local history.

The hailstorms took the weather spotlight from Victoria and in South Texas where the swollen Guadalupe River was climbing to dangerous heights.

Every roof in Big Lake was damaged and all west windows knocked out. Big Lake is 68 miles west of San Angelo.

Big Lake's new elementary school and gymnasium were severely damaged by water. Broken windows allowed the soaking 3.25-inch rain to pour into the building.

The usually dry Big Lake, near the town of Big Lake, was full of water for the first time in more than ten years.

Meanwhile Kermit in West Texas counted damage in the thousands of dollars after the city's worst hail, rain and wind storm in history.

The storm struck Kermit late last night. Few houses escaped without broken window panes. Hundreds of house tops were damaged. Some downtown plate glass windows were smashed. Streets were flooded by an hour-long cloudburst.

A 35-minute blizzard of wind, dust, hail and then rain struck Odessa last night, disrupting power for several hours, smashing windows, but causing only light damage.

Funeral services were held yesterday.

Fleming Named To Post On Federal Maritime Agency

WASHINGTON, April 28.—(AP)—President Truman today appointed James H. Fleming to the Maritime Commission. He said Fleming will be designated as chairman.

The president said that Jesse Larson, now War Assets Administrator, will succeed Fleming as Public Works administrator. Rear Admiral Paul Luther Mather, now associate administrator, will head the War Assets Administration.

Fleming is a veteran government career official. Mr. Truman described him as an independent with no political affiliation.

On the Maritime commission, Fleming will succeed Vice Admiral William W. Smith whose term expired.

Texas Railroad Cuts Employment Of Shop Workers

PALESTINE, April 28.—(AP)—The sharpest cut in Missouri Pacific railroad shop employees here since before the war goes into effect today and tomorrow.

Between 50 and 70 men in the locomotive and coach departments will be laid off. Personnel reductions in other departments may follow. The railroad did not give reasons for the move.

In effect, the shelling down the coach department. Some workers in the department already have accepted positions with the Cotton Belt railroad in Tyler.

Sources here said there also were discussions at Houston and San Antonio.

Veteran Employees Of Collin Street Bakery Will Be At Formal Opening

When the formal opening of the Collin Street Bakery is held Thursday, Friday and Monday evenings, friends of the pioneer institution will be greeted by veteran employees and officials.

Weidmann who established the institution in 1900 and remodeled representing an expenditure of considerable in excess of $250,000 in equipment and remodeling of the spacious building located at the intersection of Main street and West Sixth avenue.

Family Of First Philippine Chief Target Of Attack

Widow, Daughter, Son-in-law Killed By Assassins

MANILA, April 28.—(AP)—Mrs. Abrora Quezon, widow of the Philippines' first president, her daughter and son-in-law were killed today in a bloody machine gun ambush that brought death to 10 persons.

Ten others were wounded.

President Elpidio Quirino, notified of the ambush in the mountains of northern Luzon, ordered an immediate campaign against the killers, whom he identified as bandits.

The Quezon party, with an armed constabulary escort, left Manila shortly after 5 p. m. local time for Baler on the northeast coast of Luzon. The 60-year-old widow was to have unveiled a marker in memory of her husband, Manuel Quezon.

Maj. Gen. Rafael Jolandoni, former Philippine army chief of staff, who was in the first automobile of a caravan with Mrs. Quezon, described the ambush tonight.

"Shots in rapid succession were fired at our car," he said. "We stopped at once. The attack was so sudden that the first thing I knew Mrs. Quezon was slumped over me."

"I pulled my gun and was about to use it when someone suddenly appeared by the side of the car and hit me on the right side of the face with the butt of a rifle. I was knocked unconscious and that was the last I remember. I can not imagine how I escaped."

The general said when he regained consciousness he was surrounded under the bodies of Mrs. Quezon, her daughter and others.

Constabulary troops guarding the party returned the fire of the attackers but were forced to retreat.

Shanghai Escape Gateway Is On Verge Of Being Cut Off

SHANGHAI, April 28.—(AP)—The escape gate from Communist threatened Shanghai began closing slowly today.

For foreigners, the last ships were preparing to get under way. For the Chinese, land routes were coming under Red troop domination. Airplanes still took out refugees over land and sea.

The American liner President Wilson, likely to be the last liner to call here for some time, sailed down the Whangpoo this afternoon. Aboard were 300 evacuees, 150 of them American.

Those Americans who elected to stay in Shanghai—some 1,500 of them—are now here, come what may.

One small U. S. navy craft during the afternoon took a few stragglers down the river to the hospital ship Refuge. Navy sources hinted that may be the last boat out.

Big naval craft moored down the river, out of range of Communist shore guns, may depart tonight or tomorrow, one naval officer said.

British warships still are in the Yangtze and Whangpoo but the British are not undertaking emergency evacuations.

People who leave Shanghai from now on will move mostly by air. Both the American Northwest Airlines and Pan-American are running regular flights and some special planes to the United States, Manila and Hong Kong.

The approaching Communists appeared to be at least 30 or 40 miles away in mid-afternoon although they took Sochow (Wuhsien) about 50 miles west of Shanghai, early yesterday. Their advance may be slowed down because they still have not sufficient forces farried across the Yangtze to handle the various drives which are developing.

The Reds seemed to be taking their time toward Shanghai possibly because they want an air occupying force at hand when they enter the city. Shanghai, the world's fourth largest city, is also big geographically and the Reds will need many men even for a peaceful take-over.

The Associated Press office here today heard in a round-about way that its Nanjing correspondent, Seymour Topping of New York, was confined to his house by the Reds and was not allowed any visitors.

These reports said the restriction seemed more severe than those imposed on other foreigners in the Red-held capital.

Notes On "Planted" FBI Report In Judith Coplon's Purse, Court Told

WASHINGTON, April 28.—(AP)—Handwritten notes from a "planted" FBI report were found in Judith Coplon's purse when she was arrested last week, government prosecutor said today.

Miss Coplon, former employee of the department of justice, was arrested in New York March 4 in the company of Valentine A. Gubitchev, a Russian citizen since suspended from a job with the United Nations. In addition to the separate espionage case against Miss Coplon here, she and the Russian have been indicted in New York on espionage conspiracy charges.

Raymond P. Whelan, an assistant attorney general, told the jury that she had been shown the FBI report on the day of her arrest.

Whelan made his opening statement. He had denied a defense motion to prevent the government from using the seized papers. He said one part of the memorandum

Atlantic Pact Is Urged By Austin Before Senators

WASHINGTON, April 28.—(AP)—America's chief delegate to the United Nations told senators today the North Atlantic pact will strengthen the U. N. and "increase its ability to remove causes of war."

Warren R. Austin made the statement before the senate foreign relations committee in urging approval of the treaty as a step toward peace.

He firmly denied the 12-nation alliance would destroy the United Nations or weaken its efforts toward international unity.

Austin, a former senator himself, followed Secretary of State Acheson in pleading for approval of the pact.

Some senators, however, said that part of Acheson's testimony yesterday may have cost the treaty vital senate support.

They referred to Acheson's statement that to vote for the pact would be to endorse the administration position "that the United States can and should provide military assistance to the other pact countries."

Senator Taft of Ohio, chairman of the GOP policy committee, told a reporter he regards Acheson's testimony as having linked the 12-nation pact "inseparably" to the proposed $1,450,000,000 foreign arms program.

"Against furnishing arms now," Taft said, "I want to support the pact, but Acheson has linked it inseparably to the military program. I don't know what my final decision on the pact will be."

United States ratification of the treaty requires the approval of two thirds of the voting senators.

Most of the 11 nations who would be this country's treaty partners already have asked for military aid.

Senator Byrd (D-Va.)—who had asked Acheson in a letter if a senator could vote for the pact without committing himself on the arms issue—said he isn't satisfied with the answers the secretary gave in testimony before the foreign relations committee yesterday.

Another Measure In Gilmer-Aikin Group Is Passed

AUSTIN, April 28.—(AP)—The house today passed the minimum foundation school bill second of the Gilmer-Aikin measures on second reading, 87 to 18.

Another major piece of legislation was sent to the calendar by the house appropriations committee. It was a bill appropriating 50 million dollars for state department during the next two years.

Debate of the third and final school reorganization bill was expected to begin later in the day.

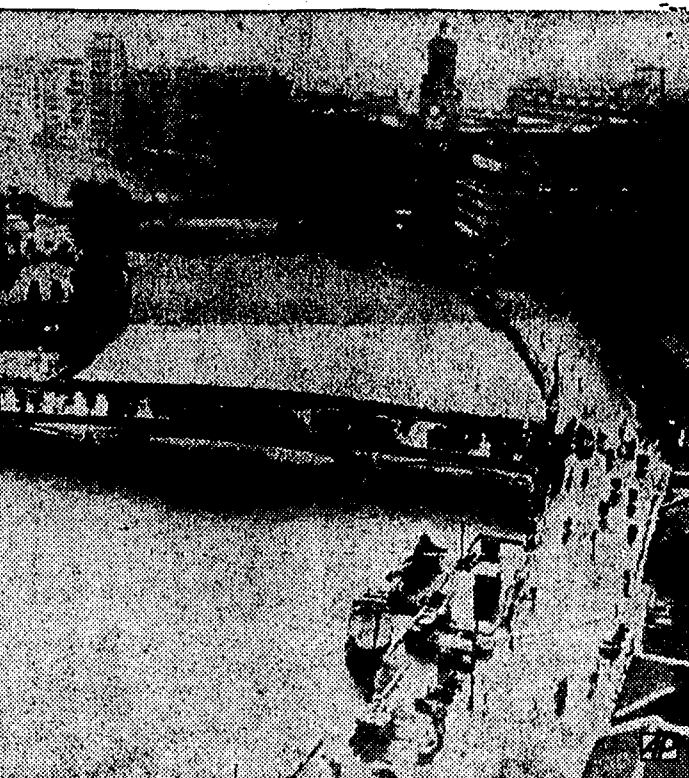

The departmental money bill was recommended for passage by the appropriations committee after a sharp fight in the house. It was approved by a 5 million dollar vote.

It recommended for passage, the departmental bill calls for a 16 percent increase over current expenditures.

A substitute measure by Rep. William A. Miller of Houston, calling for heavy cuts, was turned down 11 to 7.

The bill has finally passed and sent to the senate two of the major money bills that must be approved before final adjournment.

They were the judiciary and a eleventh measure. The college money bill is still in the house committee. All the big money measures and numerous others are still held up in the senate finance committee.

Truman's Threat Subject Of Fight On House Floor

Patronage May Be Withheld To Punish Platform Violation

WASHINGTON, April 28.—(AP)—Northern and southern Democrats got into a hot fight on the house floor today over President Truman's warning that party members who refuse to vote for Taft-Hartley act repeal will fall out of White House grace.

The chamber was in the midst of debate on the union-hated labor law.

The fireworks began popping right after Rep. Wood (D-Ga.) formally asked the house to take his bill, which would keep most of the Taft-Hartley act, as a substitute for the administration repeal measure.

Only a couple of hours earlier, Mr. Truman had told his news conference that he would veto the bill in Congress on Taft-Hartley repeal will be a test of party loyalty. The administration bill would repeal the T-H law and return to a modified version of the 1935 labor relations act.

The implication of Mr. Truman's remarks was that Democrats who fail to go along with the administration of a new labor law will have little to say about who gets federal jobs.

Rep. Hebert (D-La.) took the floor "to advise my Democratic colleagues" that President Truman "has placed a patriotic purchase tag" on votes for the administration labor bill.

Hebert, who supported the southern states rights ticket in last fall's election campaign, said Mr. Truman had been asked whether votes in the house on the labor bill would have any effect on the distribution of federal jobs.

"His answer was in the affirmative," Hebert said to loud applause and cheers from the Republican side.

McCormick Answers

Democratic leader McCormick of Massachusetts jumped up to say that Hebert and others on the Democratic side who supported the states rights ticket are "sitting by the sidelines" on the Democratic side.

If Hebert had had his way, McCormick went on, "we would not have a Democratic majority in this house and we would not have a Democratic President. He actually is openly supporting a splinter party."

Rep. Rankin (D-Miss) shouted that "this attempt to browbeat members of congress into voting for vicious legislation is the most complete conduct I have ever known."

He declared: "I am not to be bluffed."

Before the debate turned to Mr. Truman's ideas on party loyalty, administration men sought to woo possible supporters of the bill by holding out the prospect of amending the administration's bill in some major respects. The bill bears the name of Rep. Leasing (D-Mo.), chairman of the house labor committee.

In advance of the voting, both sides talked confidentially. Administration men said they would have a minimum of 210 votes—enough to send their bill to the senate.

Coal Mine Owners Of South To Seek Union Contract

WASHINGTON, April 28.—(AP)—Southern soft coal operators today broke away from the rest of the industry and prepared to negotiate a separate contract with John L. Lewis if necessary.

The board of directors of the Southern Coal Producers Association voted to remain away from further operator meetings—at least for the time being.

Southern President Joseph E. Moody said his directors believed they had formulated a definite policy for negotiating with Lewis and the United Mine Workers this year. The other operators, meeting here yesterday and today, have not yet reached that stage, he said.

Moody already has asked Lewis to begin negotiations for a contract to replace the one expiring June 30. Lewis has not yet replied.

"The other operators, meantime, scheduled a meeting at 12 noon (CST) to consider Lewis' new contract strategy—a gentle plea for a settlement without a strike this summer."

Fra Van Horn, temporary chairman, said "no conclusions were reached," at yesterday's meeting.

That was before they saw the softly-worded statement by Lewis. The United Mine Workers' chief usually blame the operators for preliminary skirmishing over work contracts.

Bullitt Predicts Communist Asia

Lions' Club Of Corsicana Honors Memory Of Members Who Have Died

By CLYDE E. JOHNSON
Daily Sun Staff

Corsicana Lions paid tribute today to departed members in a dignified, impressive memorial program at the Country Club Wednesday night.

The dinner-meeting, attended by some 150 persons, was highlighted by formal adoption of a resolution proposing that the Lions club sponsor a brilliant whiteway on Collin street from Beaton to the high school—provided the city widens the road and maintains the light system.

Introduced by Lowry Martin, charter member of the club who conveyed the annual memorial program idea, the unanimously adopted resolution authorized the president to name a committee to present the matter to the city commission.

Whiteway Memorial

The whiteway would be a living memorial to the departed Lions. The club some months ago voted to erect a memorial to those Lions.

The impressive program, featuring music, high praise for departed members, and a solemn roll call, was under direction of Perry McCammon, who is also a charter member.

Table for Relatives

A special table was reserved for relatives of deceased members, who were introduced by Lions President Gaston T. Gooch. They were (with the departed Lion representing in parenthesis): Mrs. Ed Polk (Ed M. Polk), Mrs. Ted Starks (Ted Starks), Mrs. R. L. Hamilton (R. L. Hamilton), Mrs. Elmer Butler (Elmer Butler), Joe B. Portson, Sr. (John Portson), Mrs. Joe E. Portson, Sr. (Ed E. McGee), Annie Lee Robbins (Annie Robbins), Mrs. Frank Woods (Frank Woods), Mrs. F. E. McPherson (F. E. McPherson), J. M.

President Hopes To Have Calder Assume Army Post

WASHINGTON, April 28.—(AP)—President Truman said today Democratic votes in congress on Taft-Hartley act repeal will be a test of party loyalty.

Mr. Truman also told a news conference that Jonathan Daniels, editor of the Raleigh (N. C.) News and Observer is under consideration for appointment as secretary of the navy.

Describing Calder as a very capable man, Mr. Truman said he had talked with him three or four days ago and he hoped he would accept the job.

Told that a high defense official had said yesterday that the utilization of the navy would take over the post within 60 days—a statement that Calder later denied—Mr. Truman smilingly observed that the announcement wasn't made by him.

At the same time, the president said there was no foundation in fact for fears that the Marine Corps might be eliminated and the navy's air arm absorbed by the air force.

He said that report was like the prognostications people read in the columns.

A reporter interjected that the apprehensions were raised by John L. Sullivan when he resigned as secretary of the navy earlier this week.

The president said he did not read Sullivan's letter to Secretary of Defense Johnson, protesting against cancellation of the navy's plans to build a super airplane carrier.

Calder, a Democrat, released a statement from Secretary Johnson denying that there are any plans afoot to transfer marine and naval aviation to other services.

Author Of "Sunbonnet Babies" Still Pounding Typewriter

By ANDY ANDERSON
AP Newsfeatures.

WINTER PARK, Fla.—A woman "too busy entertaining other people's children to have a family of my own" is still pounding her typewriter at the age of 76. She is Eulalie Osgood Grover, who wrote the perennial Sunbonnet Babies books and who now is completing a narrative biography on Benjamin Franklin, generally for teen-agers as was her first book-length biography on Robert Louis Stevenson, published in 1940.

She has been at work slowly on the book for several years and says she feels that the great American, who died in 1790, and "I are contemporaries."

But is "The Sunbonnet Babies" she is famous for and which you yourself probably remember. It was Miss Grover's first book for children and was published by Rand, McNally in 1902. It appeared in trade and school editions simultaneously and the author says she thinks it was the first juvenile book to be issued in that manner.

The school edition has been in print without interruption since then; and the trade edition was until recently.

During the period, Miss Grover edited one book of poetry and has written nearly a score of other juvenile books. She says the outstanding one was "Volland and Mother Goose," illustrated in four colors and published originally in 1915. It has been in continuous circulation since.

"Because of my many years of work in the field," she says, "I have sometimes been referred to as the dean of juvenile writers. It has been a happy apprenticeship."

The Sunbonnet Babies and the Overall Boys books pioneered big, plain type for small eyes. They were printed with four-color illustrations and have sold over two million.

They have been set to music, written into operettas, and one enterprising German mother, liking them so much, translated them into German.

"Not long after they first appeared," Miss Grover says, "the publishers suggested I take the characters across the ocean to the land of the living. The result was a travel story about each of the countries."

These stories, written for second or third grade children, appeared only in the school edition. The Sunbonnet books were born when the author returned from two years in France. She had been studying to get a better teacher's job, after teaching three years in Dow Academy in Franklin, N. H., a private school which took children from kindergarten through high school.

The taught the first three grades and it seemed to her the primers were inadequate to get a child's interest but, anxious to teach the higher grades, she went to France to study French.

She returned just too late to get a job, however, and her brother—then a publisher's representative—happened to show her some sketches of sunbonnet babies. She immediately wrote to the artist suggesting collaboration with her doing the text for a child's reader.

EULALIE GROVER Mother of the "Sunbonnet Babies."

150 words which form a kindergarten vocabulary, and these must be used. About 150 more words may be introduced to carry the narrative, but they must be monosyllabic or nearly so.

Children's textbooks in those old days, she says, were printed in small type; contained a scrapbook variety of illustration; seldom were illustrated in color, and the text was boringly repetitive.

The Sunbonnet and Overall books helped change all that for the print used was about one-third of an inch high, had no curly-cues then so fashionable, and the illustrations were simple instead of fanciful.

Eulalie Osgood Grover is a native of Mantorville, Minn. She was born there June 22, 1873. At that time her father, "rather fresh from the 'seamy side'" was in charge of a home-mission Congregational church. When I was one year old, my parents returned to their native New England where their four children were educated and went out to do their part in the world."

Miss Grover's "part in the world" may never be fully known because impressions on small minds are difficult to trace, but it's a safe bet she molded many little brains for the better, and made many little lives a lot easier and happier.

How We Licked The Parking Problem

For a while it looked like we'd have to put up parking meters. Folks working in town—including some of the store owners—were taking up all of the space along Main Street.

Farmers coming in to shop never found a place to park, and sometimes had to lug stuff a half mile or so. Some started to do their buying in other towns. Finally, store owners and farmers had a get-together—with the result that the empty field near the depot was fixed up for all-day parking.

From where I sit, most differences can be ironed out by just talking things over—maybe with a cup of coffee or glass of beer—and seeing the other person's side of it. Next time you have a problem or a little difference to settle, why not try just that?

92-Year-Old Night Watchman Wants To Be Owner Of Motor Scooter

BROWNSVILLE, April 28.—(AP)—Samuel Souther, 92-year-old Brownsville night watchman, is ambitious to own a motor scooter.

Souther, who has been night watching for 33 years and who once fought against Pancho Villa, said: "I'd like me a scooter to patrol my beat. Never been able to afford one yet."

"The trouble with people nowadays is they give up too early in life," Souther philosophizes. "I aim to stay on this job as long as I can stand on my two feet. I feel good and I got a long way to go yet."

Born in Melrose, Mass., in 1857, Souther came to the border country from Oklahoma in 1910. He was a sign painter by trade and recalls that he worked at that profession "one place and another around the country" and that as a young man, he hired out as a laborer on farms in the Middle West quite a bit.

He began patrolling his present watchman's district in Brownsville in 1916.

Seven or eight years ago a man who tried to take advantage of Sam got shot for his trouble. According to Souther, this fellow was drinking heavily and was disturbing the peace in the neighborhood.

"He was full of dope, too, and a tough one to handle," Souther recounts. "After we wrestled and bounced around for a while, he broke loose and tried to hightail it over a fence. I was forced to shoot him."

A few years after arriving in the Rio Grande Valley, Souther found himself in the middle of a war. "Since I was handy with a gun," he says, "I joined up with Gen. Emiliano P. Navearre in 1915 and helped keep Pancho Villa from capturing Matamoros."

In 1898 at the age of 41, Souther tried to join the American forces for the Spanish-American War, but he was turned down because the service required a man to be at least five feet four inches tall.

"At the start of World War I, I was too old at 60 and still hadn't grown past five feet two inches," Souther laughs, "and by golly, I'm two inches too short to this very day."

On the job each night at 6 p. m., "Senor" Souther makes his rounds until first light hints the arrival of a new day at 6 a. m. "But I'm used to working while everybody else is sleeping and taking my rest in the daytime," he maintains. "A body ought to be used to it after this long."

The gott-spoken old fellow wakes up and starts his day about mid-afternoon. He usually occupies his leisure hours with pattering around his home or by taking some of his grandchildren for a walk. Sam's eyes sparkle when he talks about his grandchildren. "I reckon on those kids give reason enough for a man wanting to stick around for a while," he says.

Three married daughters, all of whom live in Brownsville, have provided "Senor" Souther with nine grandchildren so he doesn't have to go looking for one to take a walk with him.

was "deliberately false" and that the other part, while it was secret, would have caused no damage had the information fallen into unauthorized hands.

Whearty said FBI agents found two packages in Miss Coplon's purse. One, he said, contained the false information, the other quotations from data slips dealing with internal security and a statement telling of her failure to get an FBI report about Communist activities in the United States.

Judge Reeves also denied a defense motion for a mistrial, and another to expunge from the record an FBI statement telling what was in Miss Coplon's purse when she was arrested March 4 in New York with Valentine A. Gubitchev, a Russian.

The FBI agent who made the arrest said Miss Coplon's purse yielded:

1. A statement telling of efforts to obtain a top secret FBI report.
2. Background statements concerning three potential recruits for espionage service.
3. More than 30 sheets of paper known as data slips containing extracts from FBI reports on internal security matters and suspected espionage agents in this country.

The agent, Robert R. Granville, filed a sworn statement yesterday in justification of the March 4 arrest of Miss Coplon and Gubitchev without a warrant.

It was part of the government's reply to the defense motion to bar the prosecution from using the seized papers in Miss Coplon's trial here on espionage charges. She and Gubitchev, a suspended Russian employee of the United Nations, also are under indictment in New York on espionage conspiracy charges.

Archibald Palmer of New York, Miss Coplon's attorney, contends the FBI agents seized only Miss Coplon's "private papers."

Granville said this is the "exact language" of a statement found in Miss Coplon's purse.

"I have not been able (and don't think I will) to get the top secret FBI report which I described to Michael on Soviet and Communist intelligence activities in the U. S. When I saw the report, for a minute, I breezed through it rapidly, remember very little. It was about 115 pages in length;

QUITS "BATTLESHIP ROW"—The troopship Chilton moves out of Shanghai with nearly a battalion of U. S. Marines aboard. The ship quit "battleship row" in a move to avoid any possibility of incidents such as involved four British warships on the Yangtze river. The Chilton moved to the mouth of the Yangtze northeast of Shanghai. (AP Wirephoto, via radio from Shanghai.)

summarized first Soviet 'intelligence' activities, including Martens, Lore, Poynts, Altschuler, Silvermaster, et al. It had heading on Soviet UN delegation but that was all I remember. The rest of the report I think was on Polish, Yugo, etc. activities."

Miss Coplon later told reporters "Michael" referred to the archangel.

Palmer said the reference to Michael was all part of an "allegory" that was to go into a novel. Miss Coplon planned to write.

Miss Coplon herself showed reporters this passage in the court state accuses the handsome, 18-year-old defendant of lying in wait for Lord in a bedroom closet. It charges that he sprang from the closet when Lord walked into the room and struck him from behind. It further charges that Hester robbed the victim of his money, ring and automobile.

Hester was arrested March 12 in Los Angeles. District Attorney John A. James, Jr., relentlessly pursued this theory while Hester was on the stand for cross-examination today. The youth, obviously nervous, squirmed in the witness chair.

James, picked up a stained hat, found on Lord's body.

"This is blood inside the hat, isn't it Hester," the district attorney said.

"It looks like it," the youth replied, "I guess it could be."

Dramatically, then, the district attorney perched the hat in his own hand and walked before the jury. Suddenly he turned and shot a question:

"Hester didn't you leap out of that closet in the bedroom and hit him?"

"No!" Hester shouted.

"You didn't call an ambulance did you, Hester?"

"No."

"You didn't care."

"You didn't make a report of what you had done to the authorities, ever."

"No."

When he was excused from the witness chair after two and one-half hours of testimony, Hester turned to reporters at the press table and explained: "Whew, I'm glad that's over."

Mrs. Max Brazel of Fort Worth, an aunt, contradicted one point of Hester's testimony today.

He had said from the stand that he lived with Dr. Lord for several months before he knew the educator or had any connection with TCU.

But Mrs. Brazel, called as a witness today, said that Hester told her, in 1945, he was going to move to the home of a TCU professor.

This occurred, she said, after Hester ran away from the State orphanage at Corsicana in 1945.

Hester said that on March 1 he

CORSICANA MOUNTED QUADRILLE—Practice sessions are held Monday and Friday evenings at 7:45 o'clock at the Fair arena. The public is invited to watch the practice sessions. Each couple has matched horses and uniforms. The first appearance will be May 6-7 at Baylor University, Waco. Left to right are: Donald Lake, flag-bearer; Bobbie Sue Williams and Robert L. Salter; Eloise Gantry and Bill Dill; Flora Mae Castles and David Castles; Mrs. Vernon Roloff and Chick Reed; Rita Nichols and Leo Nichols; Vernon Roloff, Inez Compton and Jess Compton; Mrs. Johnnie Spencer and Johnnie Spencer; Frances Prince, flag-bearer, front center, Roland Edrington, caller; Buck Smith, president; (John McNutt, vice president; George Gillespie, caller, and Mary Ann Osborn, rider, absent.)

For a few days, before he went to Lord's home, he lived at her house in Fort Worth, she said.

Other witnesses today were Mrs. Maggie Hamm of Arp, Texas, Hester's mother; Mrs. Eva Campbell of Davis, Okla., a sister, and Mrs. W. H. Davidson, formerly of the Children's Bureau of the Fort Worth health department.

Mrs. Ham and Mrs. Campbell merely identified themselves. Mrs. Davidson said she had investigated Hester's home in Fort Worth in 1934 and had found the family poverty stricken. Hester's father has been dead for years.

Lord's body was found in the bedroom of his home on March 10, two days after the slaying.

James drew from the defendant the testimony that out of 23 months and three days in the navy, he was absent on liberty for four months and 28 days and had spent 13 months and 17 days serving sentences. Hester was dishonorably discharged from the Navy in December, 1945, at Norfolk, Va.

Two hours before the trial was resumed at 9 a. m. today, the courtroom was crowded. Spectators stood in the windows and lined the walls to hear the youth's testimony.

Hester testified in his own behalf last night, saying that "I hit him (Dr. Lord) because I was mad."

Hester testified he failed to return to duty at the end of his leave in all three instances because Dr. Lord wrote his letters imploring him to come back to Fort Worth. Hester said each time he did go back.

He said Dr. Lord bought a farm near Burleson in January of this year and asked "me to come and live with him."

He said he was to be employed as a caretaker and paid $50 a month.

"Three days before the fight," he related, "I went to Fort Worth and fooled around doing nothing in particular."

"I came in late the night before the fight and went to bed. Dr. Lord came into my room that morning and we had the argument about the car and about the money I was supposed to get."

He said Dr. Lord had paid him only $35 in salary from the time they went to the farm in January until March.

He said after the fight, he threw the (metal) rod out in the yard, packed his clothes, got the car and drove to Burleson "where I got a coke."

He said he went to Coahoma where the car broke down. Then, he said, he caught a bus to Big Spring, a ride to Odessa and successive rides to Pecos, El Paso and Los Angeles.

Los Angeles. When he went to her apartment Los Angeles police were waiting for him.

Hester said he did not know until he got to the police station in Los Angeles that Dr. Lord had died.

Hester lived for some years in the State Orphanage at Corsicana. Dr. Lord's guardianship of him was made final in 1945.

Taking chances like this is one of the fastest ways to the graveyard. Every minute of every day, someone is injured or killed in a Darkness doubles traffic troubles. 3 out of 5 fatal traffic accidents happen at night. Be especially careful while driving during the early hours of darkness, when the light is most deceptive.

Watch out for children. Traffic accidents kill more school children than any disease. Be extra cautious when driving near schools, or wherever youngsters may be playing in the street.

Don't drive a death trap. Unless the brakes, tires, steering mechanism and other parts of your car are in good condition, you're inviting disaster every time you drive. Check your car, and check accidents.

PERFECT TEXTURE OF DE LUXE BREAD IS ASSURED BY THIS OPERATION

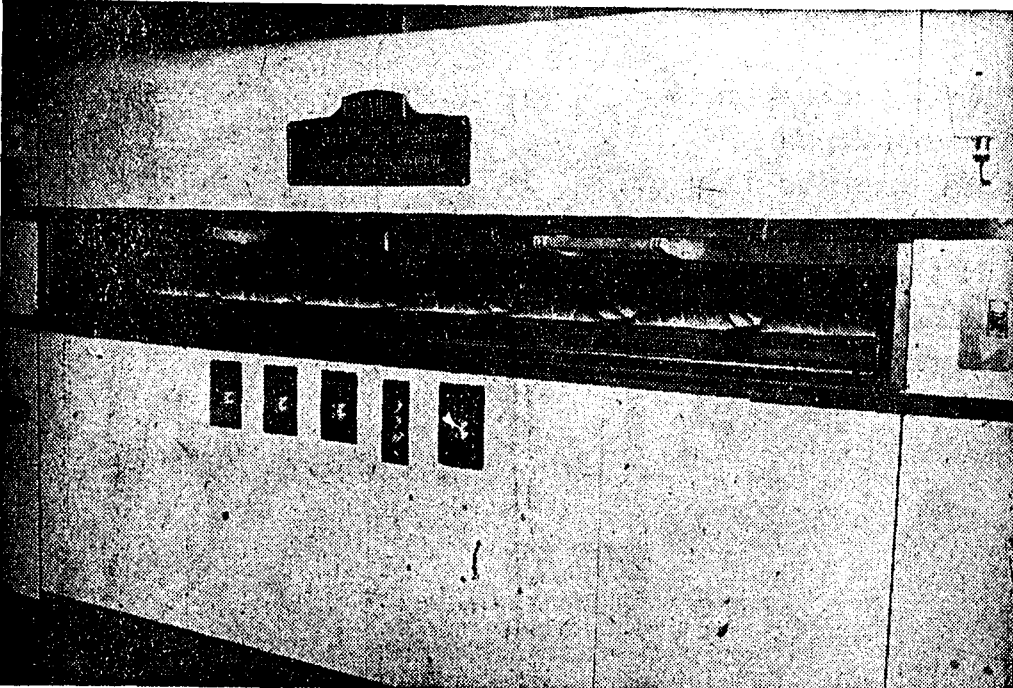

Here we see the new loaf molder and twisting table at Collin Street Bakery. This machine accurately molds dough into half loaves which are twisted together to assure you smooth, even texture in every loaf. This is the last step in the "make-up" of DeLuxe Bread before it is panned for the oven.

FERMENTATION IS IMPORTANT STEP IN PRODUCTION OF DE LUXE BREAD

COLLIN STREET BAKERY OVEN IS RATED AMONG BEST IN THE BAKING INDUSTRY

Here may be seen loaves of DeLuxe Bread ready to be taken from the new Readco Single Lap Tray Traveler Oven. This oven is one of the most recent developments in bakery ovens, and has many advanced features in circulating heat that have been responsible for DeLuxe being "Tomorrow's Bread Today." Due to its improved circulating heat, this Traveler Oven assures evenly baked crust all around. The oven is fully automatic, and is equipped with traveling trays on which the dough is placed. By the time the tray makes a complete circuit, it is perfectly baked, and is ready to be sent to the slicer.

ANOTHER PIECE OF COLLIN STREET BAKERY EQUIPMENT IS MARVEL OF SPEED AND ACCURACY

Pictured in operation is the new, modern Roll Divider and Rounder now in operation in the newly remodeled Collin Street Bakery. This machine has a capacity for turning out 180 pieces of dough every minute, and is almost superhuman in its accuracy.

Collin Street Bakery Consultant Is Top Ranking In Bread Production

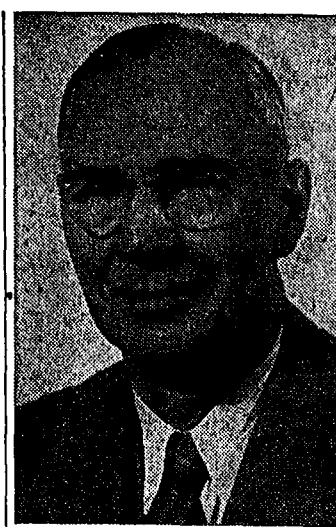

When the Collin Street Bakery set out to give its customers the finest loaf of bread humanly possible to bake, they first engaged the services of one of the top ranking bakery consultants in the entire country, Mr. Claude D. Pierre.

Mr. Pierre has spent more than forty years in the baking industry and has served as advisor to many of the largest bakeries in the United States.

Mr. Pierre has devoted much of this time and study to fermentation problems and to flours, and has become recognized authority on these two subjects.

Mr. Pierre started in the baking industry in Texas 43 years ago. His skill and understanding of what it takes to make bread, the best, soon won him fame and he was induced to act in an advisory capacity for many major baking companies throughout the North, East, and along the Pacific Coast. Many of these bakers attribute their success to the top quality loaf which Mr. Pierre developed for them.

Mr. Pierre took charge of bread production in the Collin Street Bakery two years ago. During this time, he has instituted many changes which have resulted in making DeLuxe Bread the finest that money, skill and fine quality ingredients can produce.

"WHAT IS BREAD"

It might interest you to know that the DeLuxe Bread you eat is a combination of six simple good foods—flour—milk—shortening—sugar—salt and yeast—these same six simple good foods that your mother used in making bread—and her mother used before her.

We must grant in the opening of this exposition—that most bakers use practically the same six ingredients—and this gives rise to a very good question—and that question would be—Well, if all bakers use the same six simple good foods, what makes DeLuxe Bread better than the rest?

The answer to this question is—baking methods—baking experience—coupled with pride of craftsmanship and extreme caution to insure that each of the ingredients used, are the best that can be purchased.

You need not be a food expert to know that there is a great difference in the most simple food ingredients—the best example—there are several different grades of ordinary salt—it is obvious that the best salt sells for the most money.

So—step No. 1—the selection of the best ingredients makes a better bread—and you have the assurance of the management of this bakery that the very finest of ingredients are purchased for the making of DeLuxe.

Step No. 2—the difference in bread is in the baking method, baking skill, and pride of craftsmanship—and the men employed in Collin Street Bakery—the best recommendation that each man is proud of the loaf of DeLuxe he bakes—and will never give you anything but the best loaf of bread to eat in your home.

As a food commodity—you should know—that bread contains a wealth of minerals, vitamins, protein, calcium, phosphates—and an abundant energy that makes bread the "cheapest food on the grocery counter."

The DeLuxe Bread you buy represents a food bargain and every time you buy an additional loaf of DeLuxe—you have assisted in stretching the family income to provide more energy, more nutrition, and more health for less money.

There is no process in the baking of DeLuxe in the Collin Street Bakery—that is secret or will be kept from you—you can see the bread baked from the time the flour comes in the flour storage room until the completed loaf is delivered on the wrapping room floor.

Collin Street Bakery feels that the tried, tested, timely methods used in all of civilization in the baking of bread—are still the best—and bread is baked in this bakery along lines that are identical with those known to you, your family, or those who have gone before you.

It is possible that within your memory someone in your family baked bread—and you like all human beings have a "hankering" for home made bread—glorified because of the memories of your youth—and if you would be honest and conscientious with yourself there would be a slight possibility that you would vote for the "bread your mother used to bake" rather than the bread baked by the bakery salesmen who draw our memories from our youth.

Then let us accept your opinion—as being correct—and let us admit that the way your mother did it and the way your grandmother did it—we use both very fine methods—and we hope that mother and grandmother will not mind—if we have taken their methods—refined them scientifically and equipped our bakery mechanically so that we can do it their way—yet provide enough bread for this community.

When your mother or grandmother started to bake a batch of bread—they took a certain amount of the ingredients—and mixed them up in a large pan—and they put this pan on the "warming oven" to "raise" (we do the same).

After a stated period of "raising"—your mother or grandmother would knead in to the thin dough an additional amount of the more inflexible ingredients—(flour to you)—and again a period of fermentation (or "warming") as your grandmother would call it would follow (we do the same).

From time to time as the bread would rise over the edge of the dish pan or other container that your mother or grandmother used—it would be punched down—(we do the same).

And eventually when the bread had "raised" and been "punched down" sufficient to permit the bread to become elastic enough for working—it would be cut in pieces (we do the same with a "divider") and each of these pieces of dough would be dusted with flour—would be rolled into a ball (we do the same with a "rounder")—and then it would be carefully made into a long roll big enough to fit the pan (we do the same thing with a "molder").

After placing the dough in the pan—the pan would be put by to again "raise" (we do the same thing in a proofer)—and after a time when the bread had raised to the proper level in the pan—the pan would be put in the oven to bake—and would be knocked out of the pan after baking and allowed to cool (we do all of these things—only we do them with machinery.)

The only exception being that after the bread is baked we wrap the bread in clean, protective wrappers to insure freshness—but throughout all the processes of the bakery we still follow the same time tried and trusted route followed by your mother and grandmother—with the single exception that we find it necessary because of the hundreds of thousands of loaves of bread we sell—that we do away with slow, hand methods, and do these same things by machinery—and from this very factor of using machinery comes an advantage never given to mother or grandmother.

For day after day this machinery—the ovens—and all the equipment used in this bakery work at a uniform rate of speed, uniform temperatures—with uniform performance.

Let us be frank about it, "uniformity" was a word unknown to mother or grandmother.

If the warming oven was just the right temperature—proofing was good—and the resultant bread was fine.

If the oven was just the right temperature—then again home made bread turned out very, very well—and your father or grandmother would say "You certainly made a fine batch of bread this time."

If the ingredients used by your mother or grandmother—in the exact proportions used by them—were skillfully and scientifically mixed, blended, handled and baked in the same exact uniform method day after day—the results would be about the same as we get in this bakery—a fine loaf of bread all the time.

OVERHEAD PROOFER IS IMPORTANT STEP IN PRODUCTION OF DE LUXE BREAD

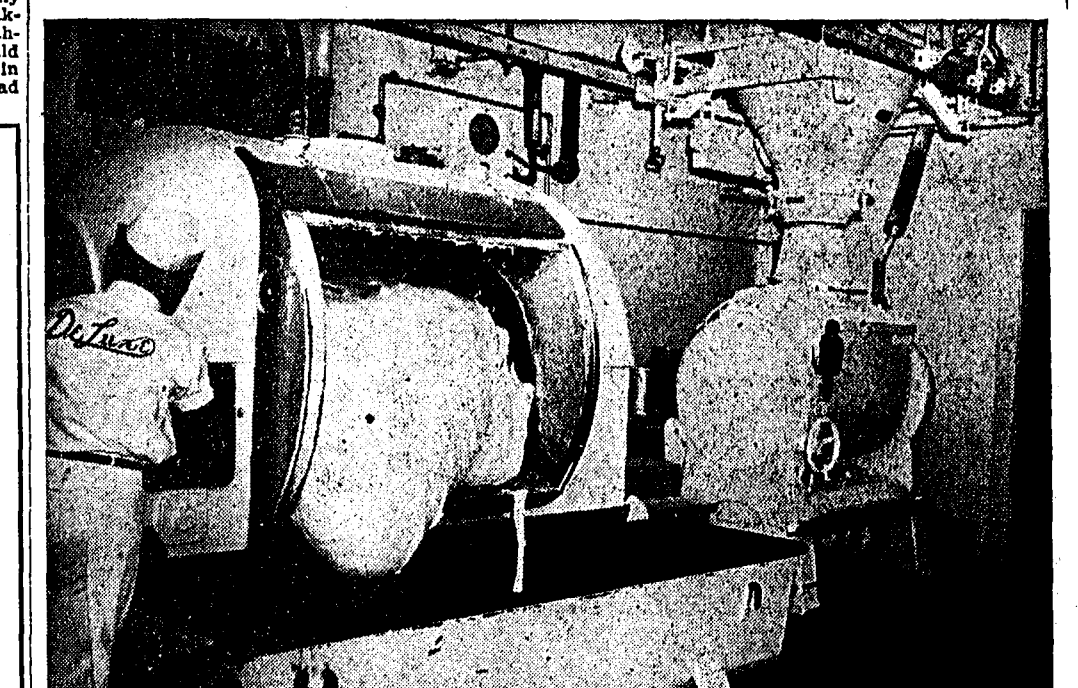

This expensive piece of equipment literally is the "dough" "rest" between machines. Eight minutes are required for the dough to pass through this machine on conveyors. During this time the dough "relaxes" and begins the rising process.

DIVIDER-ROUNDER IS MODEL OF EFFICIENCY

EXTREME ACCURACY IS VITAL TO A GOOD LOAF OF BREAD

Above is a photo of the ultra-modern Readco Breadnaught Dough Developer in operation at Collin Street Bakery. This is one of the most up-to-date pieces of baking equipment to be found anywhere in the Southwest. It has a capacity of 1080 pounds of dough. At the right may be seen the sponge mixer. Just above it is the flour hopper that automatically weighs and sifts the high grade flour used in baking DeLuxe Bread. This hopper is mounted on an overhead track, and is used to service both the sponge mixer and the dough developer.

MARVEL OF MECHANICAL TIMING SLICES, WRAPS DE LUXE BREAD

Above is pictured in action one of the most fascinating operations in the production of DeLuxe Bread. This Slicer and Wrapper slices each loaf into smooth, even slices, wraps them with the familiar DeLuxe Bread Wrapper as the final operation before the bread is rushed to your grocer. This machine will slice and wrap 80 loaves of bread every minute. Bread fresh from the oven is fed into the slicer. Here rapidly revolving knives slice it evenly and smoothly. The bread then passes into the wrapping machine where mechanical fingers place the wrapper around the loaf and seal the ends. The loaf then emerges ready to be loaded on DeLuxe Trucks and rushed to dealers throughout Corsicana and the surrounding territory.

Robert J. Clicque Talks To Civilians; Officers Named

"Depressions start at the producer's level, and the farmer is our greatest producer," Robert J. Clicque told Corsicana Civilians Thursday in explaining the proposed new agricultural support program submitted to congress.

Clicque, administrative officer for the Corsicana branch of the Agricultural Conservation Association, spoke only in general terms of the new program because little information is being put out on the subject, but he gave a clear picture behind the new agricultural shakeup.

"The farmer is our biggest producer, and when his production drops, that is when the depression affects the business man," he continued.

"The new program is aimed at stabilizing the farmer's income," Clicque included as things that may come to pass because of the new program, the diversion of acreages to other crops, the taking of some acreage out of cultivation to eliminate surpluses and to facilitate soil conservation, and the extension of price support to other crops besides cotton in Texas and corn and wheat in the Midwest.

The speaker was presented by Charles Banister. Program covers for May 5 are E. E. Burnett and Dr. S. H. Burnett.

A nominating committee presented a new slate of officers at the session, and it was accepted by acclamation.

It nominated Herman L. Roberts as president of the club; Morris Battle as first vice president; W. B. Waddell as second vice president, and Owen Elliott as secretary.

The application of Tom Pryor as a new member was accepted unanimously.

CONTINUED FROM FIRST PAGE today at Los Garzas, little farming community five miles west of Rio Grande City, for two brothers drowned Tuesday night in the swollen Rio Grande. The boys, Noel Perez, 10, and Gilberto, 12, slipped into a hole while swimming after school.

Midland, also in West Texas, had 1.15 inches of rain but it was welcomed in the cattle country. Midland and its ranch territory have had 6.44 inches of rain so far this year.

The Guadalupe was rising slowly but relentlessly at Victoria. By 8:30 a. m. the high water had reached a stage of 25.75. Sometime this afternoon a crest of up to 28 feet—seven feet out of the banks—was expected.

There was no danger of Victoria itself being flooded, and other smaller towns along the river also are built on high ground.

But lowlands around Victoria and near Bloomington, south of Victoria were being inundated. Farmers already had evacuated their stock. Young corn and cotton crops in the bottomlands were almost certain to be flooded.

Over the state, thunderstorms continued. Heaviest rains for the 24 hours ending at 6:30 a. m. were at San Angelo, 1.23 inches, and mineral wells 1.02 inches. Childress reported .86 of an inch.

"The town is in no danger," E. I. Stahala, of the Victoria Advocate, said. "Water doesn't enter the town until the river reaches at least 29.23 feet. Even then it overflows only along three or four blocks of shacks along the bottom."

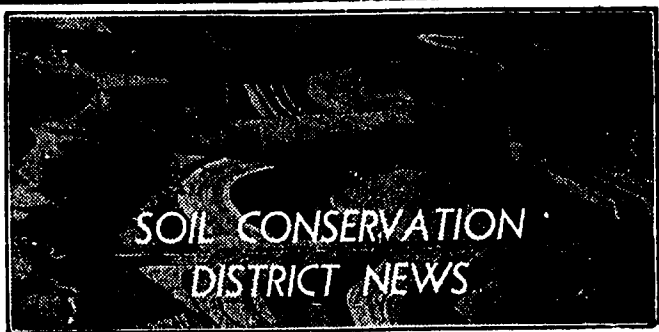

There were smaller floods reported in the making along the lower Rio Grande.

Hall, variously described as "big as hen eggs" and "big as golf balls" fell at Odessa last night.

Bruce Mack, a staff member of Radio Station KOSA, said at least one man was injured by the hail. Johnny Vaca of Radio Station WEOK said power was knocked out by the hail and strong winds.

Electra, near Wichita Falls, had a thunderstorm yesterday morning. Lightning set off a hardware store, but the blaze was quickly put out. Damage to the building and stock was estimated at $2,000.

Other places reporting rain last night were Lufkin, Amarillo, Lubbock, Midland, Big Spring, Dallas,

ASSASSINATIONS

Also dead were Mayor Ponsiano Bernardo of Quezon City (outside Manila), Maj. Primitivo San Augustin and his brother Maj. Antonio San Augustin, both noted guerrilla fighters during the war with Japan, a lieutenant Lizama and three Constabulary privates.

The wounded included Maj. Gen. Rafael Jalandoni, retired army chief of staff, who notified President Quirino and the Philippine Red Cross of the ambush. The general returned to Manila late today.

In Baguio President Quirino ordered the Constabulary and Army to rush reinforcements to troubled Nueva Ecija Province to undertake a general campaign against bandits. The president said he could not believe the attack had been led by Communist directed armed peasants called Hukbalahaps.

He said that Mrs. Quezon was loved too much by these people to be harmed by them.

There were reports that the bodies had been looted of jewelry and valuables. Quirino said this was a further indication that the attackers were bandits and not Huks.

Only last week the president had announced that the Huks had been broken into small, ineffective bands and reduced to marauding for food.

There was evidence of shock and anger from Filipinos.

Maj. Gen. Jonathan Anderson, chief of the U. S. Military Advisory group in the Philippines, termed the ambush slayings "a terrible occurrence."

State funeral services will be held.

Mrs. Quezon was beloved by Filipinos for her charity work with children, for leading the suffrage movement for Filipino women and as chairman of the Philippine Red Cross.

Movie Men Obtain Flies From Zoo When Actors Die

HAMBURG, Germany—(AP)—All ten of the outstanding stars in a film died here within a few hours recently. The last one fell to the ground dead just as the camera began clicking.

The E. R. K. A Film Company had just started its newest scientific picture on flies when the bad news became known. The nimble little actresses suddenly died like flies.

In a case like this a good idea is worth a million. The producer had the idea: "The Hagenbeck Zoo has helped us out of a lot of tight spots with elephants, tigers, horses—why not with flies?" But with temperatures below zero even a zoo will have quite a job looking for flies.

At least it's worth a phone call, thought the producer. "Is that the elephant's house at Hagenbeck? Have you any flies?" "Flies—at this time of the year? No!" The lions' cage didn't have any either. "Catch 'em alive?" was the word for the stable boys who saw their ambitions as big game hunters nearing reality. The head-price was fixed at a cigarette for a fly.

After a five-hour hunt through the "jungle" of Hamburg's Zoo they at last had 25 flies, numb with cold, but alive. They had tucked to the walls of an Indian bull's cage.

Response Poor Filling Out New ACA Work Sheets

Navarro county farmers apparently have failed to realize the importance of filling out new work sheets, ACA Administrator Bob Clicque indicated Thursday.

The response has been poor, he said. Clicque emphasized that old work sheets are to be discarded; and if a farmer expects assistance in conservation practices during 1950, he must complete the work sheet data, he said.

The project is being undertaken at this time in anticipation of cotton and wheat acreage allotments, Clicque pointed out.

"It only takes five or ten minutes of the farmer's time," he said, urging completion of the job as soon as possible. The deadline is June 25, Clicque reported, "and a vast amount of work is to be done before then."

Information is being obtained by the government on the farmers' acreage and crops during the past several years.

Trials Delayed In Poland Now

WARSAW, Poland.—(AP)—Persons who go to jail in Poland usually stay there a long time before they face a trial court. The security police take their time in their investigations of persons whom they arrest. Thus, it's not uncommon for accused to be imprisoned a year or more before they are tried.

Most of the arrests now being made by security police are based on "anti-state activities" or alleged membership in underground bands which seek to overthrow the government by force.

Employees of foreign embassies or consulates are not exempt. The security police recently seized three French citizens and one Polish citizen at the French consulate in Moscow. All are accused of subversive acts against the Warsaw regime. But there's no indication when they will be tried.

Three employees of foreign missions in Warsaw were arrested in early December, 1947. They, too, have not yet been brought to trial and specific charges against them have not been made public. All are Polish subjects. One woman worked for the U. S. consulate in

Bill Regulating Healing Practice Signed By Jester

AUSTIN, April 28.—(AP)—Gov. Beauford H. Jester signed the basic science bill today, saying he hoped it ended a "long and sometimes bitter legislative battle."

The governor signed the chiropractic bill yesterday.

"Now that these regulatory matters have been disposed of, a challenging responsibility still lies before the legislature in the related field of medical education," Jester told the group assembled in his office for the ceremony.

Kerens Program For Cancer Drive Be Held Friday

KERENS, April 28—(Spl.)—Nine organizations in Kerens will have part in a big benefit show to be held at the high school auditorium in Kerens on Friday night, April 29, at 8 o'clock. No admission will be charged, but during the show a freewill offering will be made and all the funds will go to the 1949 Cancer Fund drive.

The organizations that will have part in the program are the Kerens Pioneer Literary Club, the Kerens Music Club, the Kerens Garden Club, the Kerens PTA, the Kerens Home Demonstration Club, the Kerens Chamber of Commerce, the Boy Scouts, the Girl Scouts, and the Kerens Youth Choir. Each organization will have 10 minutes of the time on the program.

The events as presented are going to be highly competitive and each organization is determined to be winner, which means that an outstanding program may be expected. The audience will be the judge of the best performance by the different organizations. All are invited and urged to attend and to come prepared to make some contribution to the 1949 cancer drive—a very worthy cause. According to Howell Brister, Kerens and communities chairman for this drive, very little interest has been manifested in the Kerens section in this drive up to the present time, and that he hopes at this big program the Kerens quota might be obtained.

Enlisted Reserve Observing Day In Texas Thursday

Today is "Enlisted Reserve Corps Day" in Texas, the climax of a concentrated drive in national, state and local circles to reestablish Enlisted Reserve Corpsmen of the Army for another "hitch."

Gov. Beauford Jester has officially designated the observance of the day in this state.

Since the Army feels that the Reserves are practically the backbone of national defense, special efforts are being made to keep them on active duty where possible, and if that is not the case see that they are enlisted in the inactive Reserve so they may participate in armory activities and periodic service with the armed forces.

The 4043rd Infantry Training Regiment is Corsicana's reserve unit, which meets twice monthly in the basement of the post office, and is under the command of Col. John Garner.

Enlisted reservists will be eligible for inactive duty drill pay. Inquiries as to membership in an enlisted reserve group here should be made at the U. S. Army and Air Force recruiting office here.

PAYING FOR ROADS
One of the headaches of federal budget makers is the desire for a 40,000-mile system of interstate highways. The scheme was envisioned some time ago and given approval in principle by Congress in 1944, but little has been done. Pressure is being brought for action on the program, but the question is, "Whence comes the money?"

When super-road systems like this are under discussion, it is not given to toll financing such as that used for the highly successful Pennsylvania Turnpike. That state is so pleased with the arrangements for its pioneer long-distance express toll road that one extension already is under construction and another is in the engineering stage. The toll plan works.

Why could not the same be used for interstate roads? It sometimes happens that because of the death of one person the lives of many others may be saved. When Kathy Fiscus fell into the shaft of an abandoned well near her home at San Marino, Cal., the attention of the whole nation, indeed of a great part of the world, was drawn to the dramatic attempt to rescue her. When her lifeless body was found, millions and millions of people who had waited for the word of her fate began to think, suddenly, about the possibility of a similar tragedy in their own communities.

The National Safety Council took occasion to point out that about 7,000 children are killed every year in accidents that befall them during their play around their own homes, at playgrounds, and in the fields, woods, and streams where children like to spend their time, time which by no stretch of the imagination could be called idle. Many of these lives are lost to such hazards as abandoned well and mine shafts, rotted or flimsy bridges, building and play equipment, slippery rocks, the crumbling cliffs and ponds, and others.

Wherever the people of a community are stirred to make a thorough search of the areas where children play, looking for accident hazards, many lives will be saved. Already many such have been started and will bear fruit, because Kathy Fiscus gave up her life in the unguarded shaft of an old well.

HEART OF AMERICANISM
"If there is any fixed star in our constitutional constellation, it is that no official, high or petty, can prescribe what shall be orthodox in politics, nationalism, religion, or other matters of opinion, or force citizens to confess by word or act their faith therein."

These words, strangely forgotten now, were uttered by the Supreme Court in

THE LOST ASSET.
He took care of his money, for money is wealth. But never once thought to take care of his health. His bank account thrived, since he made sure of that. But he never once thought he was growing too fat.

The future, he knew, would have gray in the skies. To be ready for rainfall a man must be wise. So to stack up the dollars he carelessly slaved. Forgetting entirely that strength can be saved. He did without sleep for the fortune desired. Forced himself to keep on when his body had tired. But he got little comfort from all of his wealth. When he found to obtain it he'd squandered his health.

1948, in deciding against the state in case of the children of Jehovah's Witnesses who had refused to salute the flag. These burning words should be set up in every legislative hall, for contemplation by our present-day persecutors of unpopular opinions.

AFRICA AND THE FUTURE

The continent of the future may be not North or South America, but Africa. Count Carlo Sforza, the Italian Foreign Minister, told a Washington audience that Europe has lost its influence in Asia, China, India and Burma have broken away from Western European control or influence. France has lost much of its possessions in Indo-China, and the Netherlands' grip has weakened on the Dutch East Indies. Exploitation of Asiatic resources, a term which Count Sforza did not use but may well have been in his mind, has supported Europe for a long time. If Asia is no longer available, what remains? There is Africa.

Africa has immense natural resources. The climate and disease have limited Western development. Enterprises like the Firestone rubber concession in Liberia have been few, but may be expected to increase. Europe needs Africa. Under the supervision of the United Nations it might be able to develop the continent without exploitation of the inhabitants.

MITCHELL'S FATE

Gen. Billy Mitchell, who in 1925 was court-martialed and suspended from the Army for five years because he denounced military and naval heads for ignoring the possibilities of bombing, was foresighted in other directions. His papers, just given by his family to the Library of Congress, show that he predicted that the next world war would be fought in the Pacific. More important, he emphasized the importance of Alaska as a keystone in our defense against possible attack by air.

Mitchell deserved a better fate. He might have derived some consolation from the fact that at his court-martial the one officer who voted in his favor was Gen. Douglas MacArthur. Had he lived, he would have been gratified by the gold medal and the promotion to the rank of major-general which Congress voted him in 1946, ten years after his death.

If our human race is really so great and powerful as it thinks, isn't it about time to tackle weather control in earnest?

Anyone who is inclined to scoff at antiquities should bear in mind that he will probably be one himself, someday.

THE KING OF ALL GOOD MEN ACCLAIMED AS ETERNAL RULER

Palm Sunday Teaches Lessons Every Age Must Heed—There Is a Heavenly Model For Earth To Follow—Our New Era Calls For Revitalized Church

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS and EARL L. DOUGLASS.

Mobs in this Western world are dull and drab affairs, but in the Near East they are colorful and tumultuous spectacles. I got my clearest light on the Triumphal Entry of Jesus at a three-day demonstration of the celebration of the centennial of the birth of Jesus. The whole nation turned out in unnumbered thousands. Most were afoot, others rode donkeys and many were on horseback. The people were in every conceivable way expressed their enthusiasm. Such was the demonstration of the multitudes who made up the Triumphal Entry of Jesus, the leader and helper who had won the people's hearts. It was an unofficial coronation. Alas for the human nature: some of those same voices later cried "Crucify Him, Crucify Him!"

The King Accepts the Tribute. The Sunday school lesson this week gives us a picture of Jesus as king. We behold that hysterical mob on the slopes of Olivet, who mobbed palm branches and shouted themselves hoarse. In throats of Jesus rode into Jerusalem. There is room for deep pondering over the spectacular fact that Jesus accepted and perhaps even planned for the Triumphal Entry. All through His ministry He had avoided the crowds which would have made Him king. Nevertheless, as Jesus came to Jerusalem on the last week of His life, clearly understanding all the fate that awaited Him, He strangely accepted and willingly shared in that outburst of public honor which we know as the Triumphal Entry. In state, amidst the hosannas of the multitude, He rode toward the Zion of His ancestor, King David. Deliberately, He fulfilled the conditions of Old Testament prophecy. The plaudits of the throng He received as His right. In a word, Jesus demonstrated His claims to kingship: knowing full well that He was making plain to the people that it was their pledged king whom they were about to crucify.

The teachings of the Bible are plain—above the kingdoms of the earth is the kingdom of God. Above earthly kings is a heavenly king, Jesus. And earthly governments of all kinds succeed or fail depending upon the extent to which they conform to the moral requirements and the spiritual vision of the heavenly model. Humanity's Present Peace Effort. The greatest peace-making movement in the history of the world is the United Nations. The hopes of multitudes are lodged in that vast enterprise by which modern nations are trying to establish peace and maintain it. Will the wistful dream of humanity be fulfilled? It will if the visible framework for world peace which man has set up is permeated and infused by the spirit of the invisible kingdom which God has established. Side by side with the things of this world are the realities of another world, unseen, spiritual and eternal. The things of our era are closed out. This may appear to many a naive concept, but it is a fundamental fact. It is too simple that those in high places often miss it. The heavenly King rode into the affairs of the world on that day two thousand years ago. Most of the world's population paid no attention to Him, as multitudes still pay no attention to Him. In later generations, He rated not even a single line in Roman history. But today, time is dated from His birth. Whether the world acknowledges it or not, He is King, and whether we are ready to admit it or not the permanence and power of His earthly kingdom depend upon the extent to which they conform to the principles of the unseen spiritual kingdom which God has established through this same Jesus.

The Scepter of Authority. This wonderful demonstration at the gates of Jerusalem was followed the next day, by an assertion of royal authority, from the kingdom of God. When Jesus came to the temple, He found it, like the mosques and temples of the East today, filled with traffickers in business. Jesus knew, with all of a strong man's power of indignation, how to get angry. Fearlessly, irresistibly, with blazing eyes and thundering tones, He descended upon the noisy market, recklessly overturning the tables of the money-changers and the seats of them that sold doves. In all reformation, clean up the church first—this is the inescapable message of this scene which unraveled down to us across the ages. The church is the world's hope. Its effectiveness lies in the extent to which it is able to interpret to the meaning and requirements of God's eternal kingdom as we stand in the midst of the world as it is. Christ is King, and His Kingdom, already established, is an eternal kingdom.

C. B. Haleys Are Honored Tuesday Night By Lodge

At an open meeting of Corsicana Knights of Pythias Lodge Tuesday night the veteran secretary, C. B. Haley, and Mrs. Haley were honored with a special program and by the gift of a combined radio, victrola and recording machine. The affair was a complete surprise to both Mr. and Mrs. Haley, and no inkling of what was to come had been gained by them until the recording device gave out the information.

Mr. Haley has been secretary of the local Knights of Pythias for the past 38 years, and it has been through his efforts in a great degree that the local fraternal organization has survived and grown in usefulness. Mrs. Haley is a faithful and valued member of the Pythian Sisters.

The surprise came when W. B. Waddell placed a record on the machine which gave recordings of remarks by Mr. Waddell who introduced Gabe Goldberg after some remarks concerning Mr. Haley's faithfulness and competent filling of the office of secretary. Mr. Goldberg introduced Julius C. Jacobs, who delivered the main address, which was a record of the program. Mr. and Mrs. Haley responded feelingly to the talks and the presentation.

"Garrity Rifles" Spanish-War Unit Formed Here 51 Years Ago Thursday

"Remember the Maine!" That's what they were saying in Corsicana 51 years ago today (Thursday). And 108 Navarro countenances did something about it. On April 28, 1898, the "Garrity Rifles" company of volunteer infantrymen was formed, with 108 enlistments. They were sworn in a few days later in Austin as a part of the Second Texas Volunteer Infantry.

Three of the "Garrity Rifles" men still live in Corsicana. They are Sam Spikes, H. C. Ballew and Silas Hamilton.

The mobilization, of course, was for action in the Spanish-American war—a 100 per cent "volunteer" war. The unit brought the U. S. property valued at $8,000,000,000 compared with a battle cost of $1,800,000,000, and a war that lasted over four years.

The "Garrity Rifles" company was named after the late Capt. James Garrity. The local Spanish-American war veterans' post is "Capt. James Garrity Camp No. 47, Department of Texas."

Characteristics Of Chemical Are Told To Court

HOUSTON, April 28—(AP)—Addition of certain materials to ammonium nitrate increases the danger as a fire hazard. It was stated in the Texas City damage suit trial.

The mass trial to determine the United States government's liability for $200,000,000 in damage suits filed since the Texas City disaster of April 16-17, 1947, enters its fourth day today.

Tuesday, a witness testified that fertilizer grade ammonium nitrate involved in the ship explosions at Brest, France, at Texas City came from the same factories in the United States.

More than 500 were killed as the result of fire and explosions at Texas City, started when the freighter Grandcamp caught fire and exploded.

The SS Ocean Victory exploded at Brest on July 28, 1947. Forty-nine were killed.

A witness yesterday told Federal Judge T. M. Kennerly that fire leading to an explosion on the Ocean Liberty started in a hold that had not been opened at Brest.

Another, J. N. Parre, of the Joliet, Ill., arsenal, testified by deposition that the coating of ammonium nitrate grains with a substance called paraffin makes it more dangerous with regards to fire.

He denied that he knew the introduction of these materials made it more explosive.

Parre, an industrial engineer, also testified that in the manufacturing process concern was felt about the danger of ammonium nitrate becoming contaminated with what is known technically as carbonaceous materials and that, before Texas City, the deterioration of the paper bags in which the fertilizer was shipped presented a serious problem.

Army ordinance, he said in carrying out the fertilizer program adopted the entire procedure fixed by the Tennessee Valley Authority for this product.

The several thousand plaintiffs in the 300 individual suits are contending the government was negligent in that it either knew or should have known the dangerous characteristics of the fertilizer and yet did not give proper warning to those who might come in contact with it.

Lusitania Lifeboat to Be Moved
ERCADEIA, England (AP)—The village council has decided to move its principal monument, a lifeboat from the ill-fated liner Lusitania. Brought to this southeastern England resort years ago as a memento of the tragic sinking of the liner, the lifeboat is to be shifted to "a more suitable spot."

These are the reasons given by the councilors:
Visitors who arrive in a festive spirit do not want to see the town decorated with dead men's rafts. It is nearly 35 years since this sad tragedy of the sea occurred and there have been even worse horrors in the late war. It is a menace and a danger to the children who play in it."

Tiger-Jesuit Tilt Off; Payne Gives Make-up Schedule

Rain in Dallas cancelled the projected meeting of the Corsicana Tigers and the Jesuit Rangers Wednesday afternoon—the second time in a row that the game had been rained out.

Coch Ed Payne of the Tigers said Thursday that the game with Jesuit was out of consideration for the moment, and announced at the same time the Tiger plans for the making up of postponed district games in the district 9-A race.

Friday afternoon, April 29, the Tigers go to Hillsboro for a scheduled game with the Eagles. There was rain in Hillsboro Wednesday night, and there is a possibility that the field there will be too wet to use, but no word has been heard to this effect Thursday morning.

Saturday the Tigers go to Temple to make up the overhanging game from the first half of the scheduled with the Wildcats. This game had previously been re-scheduled for May 12, after the end of the district season, and this may clear out one of the games that tend to stack up after the regular schedule is over.

The Tiger-Cleburne game, rained out on April 28, has been reset for May 10, Payne said Thursday. That left but one rained-out game to be arranged—the Corsicana-Waco game which was to have been played Monday of this week, and about which negotiations have not been completed.

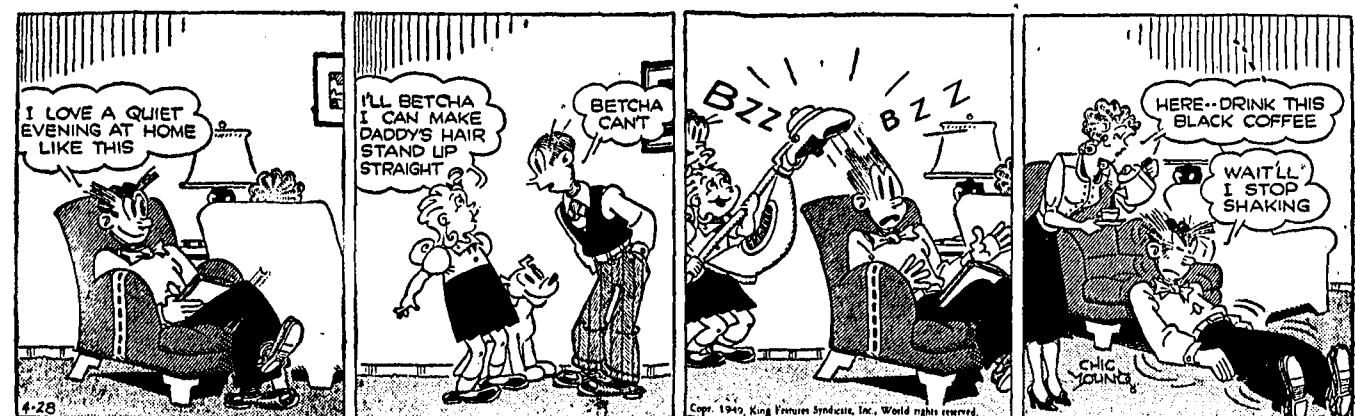

Payne said that the game probably would be played May 11, but that the date had not been definitely settled.

Freshmen Play WACO, Tex., April 28 (AP)—The Texas Aggie fresh dropped the Baylor freshmen baseball team out of the undefeated ranks here last night, beating the Cubs 5 to 3.

MISS ALLEEN CARRAWAY GETS LIFE MEMBERSHIP AWARD AT DINNER MEET GIVEN BY PTA

Corsicana parents said thank-you kindly to the teachers who share the responsibility of their children when the Corsicana Council of PTA in a banquet Tuesday evening in the Senior High cafeteria, bestowed a life membership in the Texas Congress of PTA upon Miss Alleen Carraway.

Twenty-two years a teacher in Corsicana with an unadmitted number of years before that in other school rooms including two at Dawson, Miss Carraway is retiring president of the City Council, a principal and school teacher at Stephen F. Austin elementary school. On the side she finds time to work as superintendent of the kindergarten department of the First Methodist church school and in many unpublished ways for children in her school and church community.

Unanimous Choice.

Miss Carraway presided for the occasion in a setting bejeweled with flowers.

A trellis covered with red roses served as a background for the presiding officer, seated with members of the board of education and other guests at the speakers' table. Red roses and mock orange blossoms composed the three related arrangements on the table. Irls and roses in all the shades and hints possible to them were used in decorating the other tables where officers who are to lead local units next year, some retiring officers and other guests were seated.

Fellowship. For the parents and teachers it was an occasion of fellowship, albeit a gala one, in which the purposes of PTA work were renewed, accomplishments reviewed and a critical eye turned toward the future.

Principal speaker for the evening was Dr. Joseph R. Griggs, superintendent of Huntsville public schools, who told his audience that scholarship exacts too high a price if the student has not learned the habits of living well with others. Dr. Griggs, who has progressed from classroom teacher to state offices in education, defined education as a joint effort between the ideal of providing educational opportunity for every child in every family, said Dr. Griggs, was conceived less than 150 years ago. It marks this nation above every other nation in the world, he charged.

Responsibility. The responsibility in education is more than training the mind, he told parents and teachers. By precept and example, teachers are training ideals toward democracy, was his belief.

"We must help them grow strong intellectually but also in the community so that a child can grow wholeheartedly, mentally, spiritually and physically," said Dr. Griggs.

Speaker, mentioning the hand he'd had in the accreditation of public schools, pointed out that schools might well be rated in the basis of those children out of school rather than the ones enrolled.

He gave the audience food for thought in pointing out effective state quarantine systems for livestock and produce, saying that similar transit rules are not forced to protect children. Diphtheria, smallpox and typhoid can be stamped out, he said. "Funny thing," said the Huntsville educator, "what use is a well trained mind, if the child has a crippled body?"

Parable Told. He stressed finally in a parable about the animal kingdom that regimentation in the educational system is often the destruction of the individual's abilities and rights.

Dr. Griggs was presented to the audience by W. H. Norwood, superintendent of Corsicana public schools.

Preceding the opening of the program the senior high school chorus of mixed voices was presented in three numbers, singing an invocation to the occasion and two selections after the assembly was seated. Miss Erma Weidman directed.

Seated at the speakers' table were Mrs. H. R. Stroube, Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Woolley, Mr. and Mrs.

R. R. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Festus A. Pierce, Dr. W. K. Logsdon, Dr. and Mrs. Griggs and Mr. and Mrs. Norwood.

Brown Speaks. Ralph Brown spoke briefly to the group to remind them that the issue of separation of the public school system from the municipal government would be voted upon in June, and that the separation would be effected without an increase in taxes this year if the voters accept the issue. Increased taxes will wait upon the voters' will, Brown pointed out, saying that separation alone would be a move in the right direction.

Credit for beautifully covered programs was to the upper members in the Robert E. Lee, William B. Travis and Sam Houston schools. Finger painting had been used in making the covers.

The 1948-49 officers of all local units were introduced by retiring presidents. The only reserved table in the completely filled cafeteria was for incoming City Council PTA officers. Mrs. A. F. Formby will succeed Miss Carraway as president.

Special Guests. Special guests recognized at the dinner included Mrs. J. K. Bradley, Rice, state chairman on home and family life education, Mrs. Frank Ware, a wife president of Twelfth district of the Texas Congress of PTA.

Two conspicuous program additions this year are lists of winners of the annual life membership award and past presidents of the City Council.

The life membership winners have been Mrs. Lynne Wortham, 1944; Mr. Norwood, '46; Mrs. Willard Wright, '48; Mrs. Roy Brilstone, '47, and Mrs. Stroube. Unit presidents to serve next year are Mrs. Fred DuBois, Senior High school; Mrs. A. Scott Lowry, Junior High school; Mrs. E. O. Cooper, Stephen F. Austin; Mrs. H. L. Meador, David Crockett; Mrs. W. H. Smith, Sam Houston; Mrs. W. C. Lewis, William B. Travis, and Mrs. Leighton B. Dawson, Robert E. Lee.

PTA Officers. Mrs. Clark Butler will be president of Navarro County Council PTA next year. H. C. Allen will head the Corsicana Teachers Association.

Committee chairman for the annual affair were Mr. Norwood, general arrangements; Miss Sarah Holman, program; Mrs. Ralph Brown, decorations; Mrs. R. C. Marshall, menu, and R. A. Armistead, tickets.

A final note of thanks was voiced by Miss Carraway to Mrs. Marshall and her co-workers who prepared and served the appetizing banquet menu.

J. Don Winslow Is New Secretary Of Corsicana YMCA

J. Don Winslow of Corsicana has been named the new general secretary of the Corsicana YMCA, succeeding Bill Bacon. It was announced Tuesday.

J. F. Adams, president of the Y board of directors, made the announcement following a final session of a personnel committee named to select the new general secretary.

Winslow will assume his new duties as of May 1, succeeding Bill Bacon, who has been named to head the new YMCA summer camp on Possum Kingdom Lake.

N. Stutler Roberts, who headed the committee to select a general secretary for the local organization, said Tuesday that "we feel that we have selected the best man for the job, and that he is most familiar with the problems of the local organization."

Though Winslow has no experience in the YMCA organization, he has a wide background of experience in organizational youth work, which forms a large part of the local job. He came to Corsicana in 1945, as field scout executive for the Boy Scouts of the Navarre district, a position he held for two years, before entering the insurance field.

Holder of a BA degree from the University of North Dakota, the new general secretary has been active since graduation in the related field of youth work in churches and fellowship organizations. During the war he did supervisory training work in industrial plants in Texas.

Winslow will take several orientation courses during the coming summer at the YMCA school at Estes Park, Colorado.

C. E. Hutchison Is Named TNG Officer

Charles E. Hutchison, Route 3, Corsicana, has been appointed as a second lieutenant in the Texas National Guard and has been assigned as radar officer, headquarters, 3rd Field Artillery Battalion, according to an announcement from the adjutant general's department in Austin.

MISS ALLEEN CARRAWAY

A beloved Corsicana school teacher, Miss Alleen Carraway, wore orchids tangible and intangible Tuesday evening when she was awarded a life membership in the Texas Congress of Parent Teacher Associations at the annual City Council of PTA banquet meeting in the Senior High cafeteria. The tangible orchids were very real and purple, expressed by Mrs. H. R. Stroube, Sr., president of the school board, when she presented the surprise award. Above in an informal picture, Miss Carraway showed a Corsicana Daily Sun reporter how she would relax during her summer vacation, which may include workshop classes at Southern Methodist University. After twenty-two years of teaching in this city, Miss Carraway still finds interesting the prospect of being a student herself. (Photo by John Binford.)
